JFY 2016

NO. J16-04225/ ID. 1684574

From October 5, 2016 to March 22, 2017

This information pertains to one of the JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Programs (Group & Region Focus) of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), which shall be implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both Governments.

‘JICA Knowledge Co-Creation (KCC) Program’ as a New Start

In the Development Cooperation Charter which was released from the Japanese Cabinet on February 2015, it is clearly pointed out that “In its development cooperation, Japan has maintained the spirit of jointly creating things that suit partner countries while respecting ownership, intentions and intrinsic characteristics of the country concerned based on a field-oriented approach through dialogue and collaboration. It has also maintained the approach of building reciprocal relationships with developing countries in which both sides learn from each other and grow and develop together.” We believe that this ‘Knowledge Co-Creation Program’ will serve as a center of mutual learning process.

I. Concept

Background

Today, information and communication technology (ICT) is recognized as a key enabler for realizing sustainable development. ICT, in fact, enables all citizens to access basic services, such as education, health care, agro-services or financial services. ICT is also recognized as a key tool for any government to provide more efficient and effective services. The use of ICT in government services (e-Government), therefore, has been rapidly increasing.

In Japan, in the 1970's, the government started the promotion of various e-Government initiatives such as the implementation of online based administrative procedures, electronic provision of government information, optimization of work and systems, improvement of government procurement related to information systems, and information security measures.

Nevertheless, such digitalization of government services often remains a challenge in developing countries, because of lack of not only adequate infrastructure but also highly skilled ICT personnel. In this context, JICA Okinawa offers a program empowering ICT personnel to design, develop and manage efficient ICT solutions, which can assist governments of developing countries in the efforts of improving the governments' capacity in ICT.

“ICT for the improvement of government capacity and services (IGCS)” comprises of four courses, which have different objectives:

IGCS (A) To become capable of improving the operation and management of information systems,

IGCS (B) To become capable of analyzing business/ICT problems, constructing ICT solution requirements, defining the structure of ICT systems, and developing application system (This course).

IGCS (C) To become capable of leading ICT strategy planning and business process enhancement, and IGCS (D) To become capable of designing and managing the information security systems.

This document provides general information on the course (B). For the courses (C), (D), JICA will send other GIs later.

For what?

An IT architect defines the structure of ICT systems by constructing ICT solution requirements through business/ICT problem analysis. This training course aims at enabling an ICT person to acquire a wide range of skill sets needed for an IT architect to enhance business processes by designing effective ICT application systems.

For whom?

This course is designed for a participant who is one of the following:

- IT architects
- IT staff members expected to become an IT architect
- IT staff members involved in the management of business processes and ICT application systems
- IT staff members in charge of designing applications and infrastructure architecture including web application development

(An applicant who already has a substantial knowledge and skills, which this course is providing, is subject to unacceptance.)

How?

This course includes practical exercises, such as workshops and sessions formulating an Action Plan, which is an ICT project to be developed by each participant, along with lectures, because JICA Okinawa believes that the acquired knowledge is solidified by repeatedly applying it in those practical exercises. This is especially true for technical training programs like this one.

The course also includes variety of activities, such as interactive lectures and observation tours to be conducted both in Okinawa and in mainland of Japan. In addition, a participant will undertake a 25-day practical group exercise to mark the end of the training. Using a case study, a participant will analyze the existing problems, evaluate the organizational capability and develop a recommendation to solve the problems to achieve the goals providing better citizen services. Such a practice-oriented method enables each participant to be a truly skillful ICT staff member who can lead the implementation of e-Government initiatives.

Furthermore, as one of the major outcomes of this course, the above-mentioned Action Plan will resolve business problems of the government of each participant. In order to assist each participant to implement his/her Action Plan, the training implementer will provide technical advice.

II. Description

1. Title (J-No.):

ICT for the improvement of government capacity and services (B): IT architect

(J16-04225)

2. Course Period in JAPAN:

October 5, 2016 to March 22, 2017

3. Target Regions or Countries:

Malaysia, India, Fiji, Papua New Guinea, Tonga, Palau, and Botswana

4. Eligible / Target Organization:

This program is designed for central government and/or other governmental organizations enhancing the ICT use in the work and service delivery.

5. Course Capacity (Upper Limit of Participants):

Twelve (12) participants

6. Language to be Used in This Program:

English

7. Course Objective:

This course aims for each participant to become capable of analyzing business problems from the viewpoint of ICT and constructing ICT solution by defining the structure of ICT systems.

8. Overall Goal

The overall goal of the course is for the organization of each participant to be able to ensure reliability of the services through ICT and to improve capability and efficiency of the organization.

9. Expected Modules Output and Contents:

<Structure of the Program>

Topic outline (subject to minor changes)

In order to help each participant to learn skills and knowledge, a participant is required to formulate an effective and feasible Action Plan during his/her stay in Japan and achieve the plan upon his/her return to home country. Please carefully read this section and ensure the preparation.

A. Preparatory Phase before the Departure to Japan

Before coming to Japan, each participant is requested to take following actions:

- 1) Read carefully the present document titled “General Information”.
- 2) Identify key business challenges of his/her organization, which are relevant to this course concept, and discuss the theme of his/her Action Plan, with the supervisor.
- 3) Obtain the approval of the participant’s management before the departure, which facilitate implementing his/her Action Plan after his/her returning from Japan.
- 4) Fill out the preliminary study sheet and other required forms, which will be provided by email from the training implementer after acceptance notification.

B. Core Phase in Japan (October 5, 2016 to March 22, 2016)

N.B. This is an interim version and the content and duration of each subject can be modified in due course.

6. Pre-departure Orientation:

A pre-departure orientation will be held at the respective country’s JICA office (or Japanese Embassy), to provide participants with details on travel to Japan, conditions of the workshop, and other matters.

V. Other Information

1. Climate of Okinawa

Okinawa is located at sub-tropical zone (southern edge of Japan) but climate varies depending upon seasons. While it is hot and heavily humid in the summer season (June to October), it becomes a bit chilly in the winter season (December to March) due to strong northerly wind. A participant is recommended to bring suitable clothing (details are mentioned in below 4.)

The following graph is the flow of temperature in Urasoe City where JICA Okinawa International Center (JICA Okinawa or the OIC) is located (Data source: homepage of Urasoe City).

2. Main facilities in JICA OIC

The OIC is equipped with a variety of facilities for training and welfare activities such as seminar rooms, library, study room with computers, accommodation rooms (details are mentioned in below 3.), dining hall, clinic for medical consultation, a gym, a tennis court, a swimming pool (available from May to October), a Japanese-style room for tea ceremony and recreation rooms.

At the OIC dining hall, “HALAL” meals for the Muslim and vegetarian meals are available. Internet connections are available (either by cable or WiFi) at accommodation rooms and other buildings.

Accommodation in JICA OIC

The JICA Okinawa accommodation building has 96 single rooms. Every room is furnished with a bed, a desk, a chair, bookshelves and a closet. Also, there are a television set (with satellite channels), a DVD player, a safety box, a telephone, a LAN cable jack, and so on, in each room.

The JICA Okinawa accommodation building has a tea lounge, a smoking area, and a laundry room on each floor. In addition, there is an exercise room, which opens from 6 am to 10 pm. Irons, musical instruments, sports gears, variety of DVD selections, personal computers are available for rent. Towels and toiletries are provided upon check-in.

Please note that cooking at any JICA Okinawa accommodation room is strictly prohibited.

3. What to Bring

(1) Clothing

A participant is recommended to bring appropriate clothing according to the season during the stay in Okinawa (*refer 1. Climate of Okinawa). If the training program includes a plant/factory visit or outdoor activities, suitable clothing will be provided by JICA or at visiting site upon arrival. In addition, JICA Okinawa accommodation front desk has jackets and coats for rental in case of study tour to mainland Japan during the wintertime.

(2) National Costume

There are a few occasions like opening and closing ceremonies where participant is requested to wear formal clothing. Nevertheless, casual clothing is acceptable even during training hours of most of the training programs. A participant is strongly recommended to bring national or traditional costumes for opening & closing ceremony and for other activities that a participant may have opportunities to join.

(3) Handicrafts and Folk crafts

A participant is recommended to bring some handicraft and/or folk crafts items, which could be used to exhibit the culture of a participant's country. JICA Okinawa has display corners to introduce world culture to the visitors. Also, there are a few opportunities to show your culture to local residents.

(4) Photos and Movies

During participant's staying in Okinawa, JICA Okinawa and/or the local media (TV, newspapers, etc.) may interview him/her. A participant is requested to bring some photos and videos introducing his/her country, daily life, office, etc. Please note that photos and videos must be copyright cleared or taken by a participant.

(5) OIC Festival in November

In November, OIC is going to have “OIC festival” in which participants are expected to take a part in an international cultural exchange with local Japanese people. In this occasion, participants will have an opportunity to wear their costumes and talk about their country, so it is strongly recommended to bring materials useful for introducing the country’s culture, history, people, touristic attractions, etc.

4. Environmental Conservation Activities in JICA Okinawa

JICA Okinawa emphasizes on the environmental conservation activities such as energy saving, rubbish separation and recycling etc. A participant is requested to cooperate to these activities during the stay at JICA Okinawa. Details will be given on arrival at JICA Okinawa.

5. For your Information

Information of Okinawa is available at following URLs.

JICA and Capacity Development

The key concept underpinning JICA operations since its establishment in 1974 has been the conviction that “capacity development” is central to the socioeconomic development of any country, regardless of the specific operational scheme one may be undertaking, i.e. expert assignments, development projects, development study projects, training programs, JOCV programs, etc.

Within this wide range of programs, Training Programs have long occupied an important place in JICA operations. Conducted in Japan, they provide partner countries with opportunities to acquire practical knowledge accumulated in Japanese society. Participants dispatched by partner countries might find useful knowledge and re-create his/her own knowledge for enhancement of his/her own capacity or that of the organization and society to which they belong.

About 460 pre-organized programs cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs are being customized to address the specific needs of different target organizations, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan was the first non-Western country to successfully modernize its society and industrialize its economy. At the core of this process, which started more than 140 years ago, was the “adopt and adapt” concept by which a wide range of appropriate skills and knowledge have been imported from developed countries; these skills and knowledge have been adapted and/or improved using local skills, knowledge and initiatives. They finally became internalized in Japanese society to suit its local needs and conditions.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from this “adoption and adaptation” process, which, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories. We presume that such experiences, both successful and unsuccessful, will be useful to our partners who are trying to address the challenges currently faced by developing countries.

However, it is rather challenging to share with our partners this whole body of Japan’s developmental experience. This difficulty has to do, in part, with the challenge of explaining a body of “tacit knowledge,” a type of knowledge that cannot fully be expressed in words or numbers. Adding to this difficulty are the social and cultural systems of Japan that vastly differ from those of other Western industrialized countries, and hence still remain unfamiliar to many partner countries. Simply stated, coming to Japan might be one way of overcoming such a cultural gap.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of his/her findings might help them reach his/her developmental objectives.
