Two year's Master Degree Program
at Yokohama National University, JAPAN

We are pleased to inform you that we have started the application of Infrastructure Management Program (IMP).

Yokohama National University has set up a Master's Program in Infrastructure Management in April 1995. This inter-faculty scholarship program is specially designed for training government officials and private company employees who are dealing with an infrastructure-related planning of administration in developing nations.

We would like to introduce the application guideline for those who will be interested in participating in this program by receiving a scholarship from the World Bank. Application for October 2023 admission should be submitted through the online system (<https://e-apply.jp/e/ynu/>) by 10 March 2023.

The URL of web page with application guideline is as follows.
