Course Period in Japan: September 28th, 2022 to September 16th, 2023

(In the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, please note that methodology of course may be modified.)

This information pertains to one of the JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Programs (Group & Region Focus) of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both Governments.

JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Program (KCCP)

The Japanese Cabinet released the Development Cooperation Charter in February 2015, which stated, "In its development cooperation, Japan has maintained the spirit of jointly creating things that suit partner countries while respecting ownership, intentions and intrinsic characteristics of the country concerned based on a field-oriented approach through dialogue and collaboration. It has also maintained the approach of building reciprocal relationships with developing countries in which both sides learn from each other and grow and develop together." JICA believes that this 'Knowledge Co-Creation Program' will serve as a foundation of mutual learning process.

I. Concept

Background

Earthquake and Tsunami disasters frequently take human lives, destroy houses and devastate social properties instantly and enormously. In general, natural disasters have difficulty of preparedness and precaution due to unpredictability as well as difficulty of immediate response to damage for sudden occurrence, and often cause heavy economic losses. Moreover, earthquakes and tsunamis may accelerate human losses by fires, collapse of man-made structures and/or inundation of coastal areas.

Although the studies related to earthquakes and tsunamis are developed, people are seriously suffered from earthquakes and tsunamis in many countries. The 2011 off the Pacific coast Tohoku Earthquake still lives in the people.

In order to improve technologies in seismology, earthquake engineering, and tsunami disaster mitigation in developing countries located in earthquake/tsunami-prone areas, it is important to develop those technologies applicable to each country by its own efforts, taking conditions and systems of the respective countries into consideration as well as to transfer their latest knowledge and technology from developed countries.

To achieve this aim, it is indispensable to train experts as human resources to be highly capable of planning, instructing, and extending earthquake and tsunami disaster mitigation technologies, by combining relevant advanced technologies with administrative capability to utilize and disseminate those technologies.

For what?

This program aims to increase capacities of officials, engineers or researchers who are conducive to earthquake and tsunami disaster management. In this course, participants will acquire Japan's leading knowledge and technologies on seismology, earthquake engineering and tsunami disaster mitigation.

<Examples of Japan's leading knowledge and technologies>

(See ANNEX I and IV for details)

Seismology: Earthquake source, Microtremor exploration and Strong ground motion simulation;

Earthquake Engineering: Non-linear seismic response evaluation, Performance-based seismic design, Seismic diagnosis and retrofit, Energy dissipation system and Seismically isolated system;

Tsunami Disaster Mitigation: Tsunami early warning system, Tsunami simulation and Tsunami hazard and risk assessment.

For whom?

This program is provided to those who are technical officials, engineers or researchers of governmental organizations, research institutes or universities having public interest in seismology, earthquake engineering or tsunami disaster mitigation, and who have university degrees in seismology, earthquake engineering, tsunami or equivalent and 3 years working experience.

How?

Participants shall have opportunities in Japan to acquire knowledge and technologies of earthquake or tsunami disaster mitigation through lectures, discussions, exercises, on-site-visit, etc.

Participants will also formulate a research report and a course report describing what the participant learned and what the participant will do after they go back to their home countries by putting the knowledge and ideas acquired and discussed in Japan into their on-going activities.

Remarks:

The curriculum of this course is approved as a master's degree program by the National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies (GRIPS) and Building Research Institute (BRI). In order to enroll in the master's degree program, applicants must fulfill all the requirements listed in ANNEX II. After enrolling the master's program and completing all graduation requirements during the program, the participants will be awarded a Master's degree, "Master of Disaster Management" by GRIPS and BRI. Accordingly this program is very demanding. Applicants, with an excellent demonstrable educational and professional background and proficiency in English, should be highly motivated and confident enough to pursue and attain the requirements of the program so that they can obtain the degree.

For Your Reference

JICA and Capacity Development

Technical cooperation is people-to-people cooperation that supports partner countries in enhancing their comprehensive capacities to address development challenges by their own efforts. Instead of applying Japanese technology per se to partner countries, JICA's technical cooperation provides solutions that best fit their needs by working with people living there. In the process, consideration is given to factors such as their regional characteristics, historical background, and languages. JICA does not limit its technical cooperation to human resources development; it offers multi-tiered assistance that also involves organizational strengthening, policy formulation, and institution building.

Implementation methods of JICA's technical cooperation can be divided into two approaches. One is overseas cooperation by dispatching experts and volunteers in various development sectors to partner countries; the other is domestic cooperation by inviting participants from developing countries to Japan. The latter method is the Knowledge Co-Creation Program, formerly called Training Program, and it is one of the core programs carried out in Japan. By inviting officials from partner countries and with cooperation from domestic partners, the Knowledge Co-Creation Program provides technical knowledge and practical solutions for development issues in participating countries.

The Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Group & Region Focus) has long occupied an important place in JICA operations. About 400 pre-organized courses cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs is being customized by the different target organizations to address the specific needs, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan, as the first non-Western nation to become a developed country, built itself into a country that is free, peaceful, prosperous and democratic while preserving its tradition. Japan will serve as one of the best examples for our partner countries to follow in their own development.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from a process of adoption and adaptation, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories.

Through Japan's progressive adaptation and application of systems, methods and technologies from the West in a way that is suited to its own circumstances, Japan has developed a storehouse of knowledge not found elsewhere from unique systems of organization, administration and personnel management to such social systems as the livelihood improvement approach and governmental organization. It is not easy to apply such experiences to other countries where the circumstances differ, but the experiences can provide ideas and clues useful when devising measures to solve problems.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of their findings might help them reach their developmental objectives.

1. The Application Process

Selection for admission is based on the evaluation of supporting documents submitted. Before starting your application, please carefully review the following application process.

You will NOT be registered as an applicant until we have received a complete set of your required supporting documents by post.

If you have applied to GRIPS in previous years and wish to reapply this year, any supporting documents you submitted previously cannot be used for this year's application.

Please note that if you provide any false or misleading statement or incomplete or inaccurate information in your application, your application may not be screened, you may be denied admission or, if you have been admitted, you may be dismissed from GRIPS.

Ensure that all supporting documents meet our requirements (see Section 2, Supporting Documents).

All of your supporting documents must reach the JICA office (or the Embassy of Japan) by the designated deadline. It is your responsibility to prepare all supporting documents far enough in advance so as to meet the designated deadline. Incomplete applications and applications received after the deadline will not be considered.

Applicants are responsible for the timely delivery to the JICA office (or the Embassy of Japan) of all required documents. We strongly recommend that you send the documents by registered mail or courier service well ahead of the deadline.

Applicants must send all required supporting documents together in one package. Make sure to write your name on the envelope.

You may have your official transcripts and certificates of graduation/degree sent directly to us by the registrars of the universities you have attended.

All materials submitted by an applicant become the property of GRIPS and will not be returned. Please make sure to keep one copy of your application for your records.

Protection of personal information

All personal information that we receive from applicants will be used solely for the purposes of admissions screening, collecting statistical information, student registration, educational affairs, and collection of tuition. All information provided by applicants in their applications and supporting documents will remain confidential.

2. Supporting Documents
